Asking for and giving directions

How to ask for and give directions

| Ask for directions | Can you tell me the way to the bank?
|                    | (Excuse me,) do you know the way to the bank? |

| Give directions   | Turn left at the traffic lights.
|                   | Turn into Beech Road.
|                   | Go straight on for about 100 metres.
|                   | Go along Park Street. It’s on the left/right.

Read and follow the directions on the map. Write the letters of these places:

post office - ..........
bookshop - ..........
police station - ..........

Man: Are you OK?
Woman: Yes, I’m fine now, thanks. But where am I?
Man: You’re in Marbury. This is the library.
Woman: Oh, OK. Listen, do you know the way to the police station?
Man: The police station. Yes, it’s easy. You turn left at the next road, Mill Street.
Woman: Turn left, OK.
Man: Then go straight on for about 200 metres. Then you get to the post office.
Woman: The post office.
Man: Yes, it’s on the right.
Woman: On the right, OK.
Man: Next to the post office, turn right into Beech Road.
Woman: Beech Road, OK.
Man: Go along the road, then turn left at the bookshop, into Lime Avenue.
Woman: Yes, OK.
Man: The police station is in Lime Avenue. It’s at the end of the street, on the left.
Woman: Thanks very much.
